MINERVA COLLEGE.

MADAME FARNESI

Has the honor to inform Parents and Guardians that she has now Opened the above College for Young Ladies upon the plan of the first European Colleges, and has spared neither trouble or expense to have over efficient French and English Governesses, and hopes, with the aid of Masters, to give such a finished education as to do away with the necessity of sending young Ladies to Europe.

Madame FARNESI takes this opportunity to thank her Friends for the kindness and patronage they have shown her, and for the satisfaction they have expressed for her past efforts, she begs to assure them that nothing will be spared in the future to render the education perfect in every respect.

The House is large and airy, with Bathrooms and every comfort and convenience. A Doctor visits the College once a week. Prayers are held daily in separate rooms for the Protestant and Catholic Children, and a minister of each religion visits the College once a week for examination.

The Course of Instruction comprises French, English, and Spanish in all their branches; Geography, Grammar, Sacred and General History; Composition, Literature, Writing, and Arithmetic; Plain and Fancy Work of all kinds.

The Rules are strict, but every kindness and attention is shown the Pupils.

Every Six Months there is a Public Examination, that Parents may judge of the progress made and the course of studies pursued.

The first Saturday in the Month is a Holiday; and it is earnestly requested that, when possible, Friends will only visit the Pupils on that day or Sunday, to prevent the studies being interrupted.

The only Language allowed to be spoken is French. The greatest attention is paid to their manners and deportment, that they may not only be well-educated, but have the refined and elegant manners of a Lady; and that, if necessary, on leaving the College, they may be able to take their place at the head of the house.

The Elder Pupils who desire it are taught Dressmaking and Housekeeping, without extra charge, a Governess being kept for that purpose.

The Young Ladies are never left alone Night or Day, a Governess sleeping in each Room.

EXTRAS.

German, Italian, Music, Singing, Drawing, and Dancing.

STATE OF THE INTERIOR.

The continued advices of revolt and revolution, which for the last two years we have been receiving from the Interior, make us, as it were, callous to the sanguinary drama which is at present being enacted in some of the upper Provinces.

The news by the last mail which arrived from Rosario could not be of a more afflicting character. Rioja, that home of revolution, that land of insurrection, is again convulsed, its capital attacked, stormed, and taken, and the whole respectable portion of the population obliged to flee their homes and seek safety in the open camp. The harrowing picture of poor, trembling mothers rushing with their babes to escape the Vandals who took the city has hardly elicited a comment from the press of Buenos Ayres; and yet when we realise the true extent of suffering and woe which that unfortunate people is undergoing, we feel, indeed, that there is a screw loose in the Government of a country where the executive can afford no protection.

Although, with the most superficial inkling of Riojan politics, and an utter ignorance of her public men, we see and learn sufficient of that distant Province to teach us that its Government and its institutions are all suited to its people.

Is it not afflicting to think that at this moment there is a Province of the great Argentine Republic so torn by contending politicians and civil war, that it is cursed by the double administration of two rival Governors: that its city is sacked by a handful of Gauchos: that the women and children have fled their home, and are wandering about in the desolate "Llanos" without shelter or protection: that law and order are at an end: and that all these unbounded sorrows are traceable to the schemes and designs of electioneering agents.

Melancholy, however, as is this picture of Rioja, if we cross into the other provinces we find the state of affairs little better. Salta, which is the uttermost boundary of this Republic, and, until late, has had the reputation of being the most peaceable and industrious province, has set the country a fine example during the last elections. The Governor and some of its principal men popped into prison, fifty or sixty of the free and enlightened citizens shot down whilst in the act of voting, and the whole country in an uproar. In Catamarca and in Tucuman we also have revolutions. In the latter province the Government was upset in half an hour by the renowned Padre Campos. In Santiago we have the Warwick of the Republic, Taboada, marching to and fro, hoisting the banner of rebellion against the National Government, and riding roughshod over the adjoining provinces, whilst in Cordoba we have the positive announcement of another "fandango" which, possibly, ere this has taken place. Santa Fé and Entre Rios are quiet, but Buenos Ayres, the head and front of the Argentine Republic, has become so impatient of the National Government that even the governor of the province has, in the most public manner, mooted the probability of a change.

However well Argentines and old foreign residents may understand this conflicting state of affairs, and dispel gloomy apprehensions by their faith in the future, the newly arrived foreigner is staggered at the facts which he reads daily in the newspapers, and cannot reconcile himself to the belief that a confederation can long hold together where such ceaseless contentions exist. Revolution and civil war are fast driving capital from this country, and sending back with baffled hopes intending sheepfarmers and estancieros, who come out to settle here supplied with every element that tends to national aggrandisement.

It is, indeed, to be hoped that on the termination of the Presidential election the state of affairs in the Interior will improve and that the new President whoever he may be will adopt a new policy in the Home Department. We have it on the most undoubted authority that the arrivals of produce from the Interior in the market of Rosario for the last two years demonstrated the fact that the producing powers of the provinces are steadily declining whilst every merchant with provincial connections must admit that the consumption of cottons and manufactured goods in the provinces shows also a great falling off, the inroads of the savages, the ceaseless struggles of the "Montonera," and the never ending local revolutions, have sapped the vital interests of the country. There are towns in the provinces where half the houses are shut up and the population almost decimated; there are shops in the Interior whose shelves have been empty for the last two years, the whole stock of trade of most of the country merchants being a few bottles of caña and a "tercio de yerba." which can be moved off in five minutes notice in case of revolution: there are government-houses without governors and governors without government houses, and in one word, the whole social condition of the Interior presents this day such a lamentable picture that it would seem when stepping out of the train at the last station on the Central railway, the stranger was about to enter a land where the bonds of society have been sundered, and law and order unknown.

When we contemplate the desolation which civil war has carried into the lovely valleys of Salta, destroying her vineyards and her plantations, when we behold the outcast inhabitants of Rioja wandering like the savages in the "Llanos," and we read of the rebellion going on in the other provinces, we are forced to express a hope that the misfortunes of the country may expire with the present administration.

IMPORTANT FROM ROSARIO.

THE GOTTSCHALK VISIT.

TRIAL OF STEAM PLOUGH.

May 14, 1868.

I think I cannot do better than commence my letter with a notice of the visit of the famous Gottschalk. He gave only two concerts here, and on each occasion the theatre was filled with the cream of Rosario society. A great deal has been said of this celebrated artist, and as there is such a deal of humbug in this ill-used world of ours, it was natural to doubt a part of what those naughty jades, Fame and Rumor, said of Mr. Gottschalk. But the fact is, 'he came, played, and conquered.' Such consummate mastership of an instrument, such perfect identity between the musical idea of the composer and the execution, I never before witnessed. I have heard Litz and Thalberg—they are both grand players; but to form a comparison that may be easily comprehended, they made the instrument give forth wonderful music, while with Gottschalk it seems that the music proceeds from him; and from the tips of his fingers are transmitted, by a species of electricity, to the piano, those magical sounds, that it seems to me impossible for the instrument itself to produce. It is not the extraordinary rapidity of execution, wonderful in itself, we most admire; it is not the immense power of manipulation, Leopold de Meyer possessed it to an equal extent; it is, that Gottschalk opens the magic grotto, and presents to us the very goddess of music herself, and makes her enchant us with her notes. The Egeria of the poets is before us, in the words of Shelly—

> • • • Like a nymph to the bath addrest;
> That unveiled the depths of her glowing breast,
> Till, fold after fold, to the fainting air,
> The soul of her beauty and love lay bare.

In his character of a private gentleman, Mr. Gottschalk was appreciated in Rosario as much as in his capacity of artist; and we are all anxious that he should keep his promise of making us another visit before he leaves the country; and I am induced to believe that his short stay in Rosario was of a character sufficiently agreeable to allure him to make another trial of its hospitality.

The great steam plough trial comes off on Tuesday, as I announced to you. Few people went up from Rosario, because the trip involved a delay of three days, and the accommodations offered in Fraile Muerto are not of a most inviting character. I was sorry I could not attend. There had been a heavy thunder-storm and fall of rain on Sunday, and the nature of the ground was something against the free movement of the engines. Some of the difficulties always attending these first trials of machinery caused some delay; but when the plough commenced working it did its work admirably, cutting six regular and beautiful furrows as rapidly as a man could walk. The ploughed ground I am told, presented a very handsome appearance, the furrows as straight as an arrow, and the ground admirably turned over.

As far as the working of the machine is concerned it is a complete success; but, of course, some practice will be required to manipulate it easily and readily. In a very short time the machine ploughed about six acres of land, to the satisfaction of the most fastidious. Mr. Melrose will have to wait for another month, until the Tercero bridge be finished, to get his plough across the river, and commence on his own lands.

The width of the field ploughed was about 800 feet.

After the trial about twenty-six gentlemen sat down to a dinner prepared by the manager of the railroad. The priest of the locality baptised the two engines, calling one the 'Argentina,' and the other the 'Inglesa;' and, he remarked, 'that although the latter was a heretic, it would do as much work as the other.

The Santa Fè Races come off on the 25th on the old ground at the Roldan Station, four leagues from the city. The railway will of course run a special train, to start from Rosario at 10 o'clock, and return between 4 and 5. The arrangements under the superintendence of the active Secretary, Mr. Cunningham, cordially aided by the manager of the line, Mr. Ogilvie, will be of the most perfect character. There is every prospect of a first rate day's sport. The gentlemen farmers from Frayle Muerto and Totoras are preparing to show the progress they have made in horse flesh. The great race of the day for twenty squares, flat race, will be particularly interesting, and will probably be one of the best races ever run in this country. It may be almost called a grand trial between English blood and the native for the favorite nag is an almost thorough bred mare, against which will be pitted the best native horses known here. I trust we shall see a few of your gentry up here; the trip will well repay them.

It is with the most sincere regret I read the announcement of the demise of your excellent and worthy correspondent, Sinbad. His queer patronymic had become a household word amongst the English population, while the man himself was loved and respected by all who knew him. Poor Sinbad! We may, perhaps, say, here is another victim to the fatal Paraguayan war.

There is to be an election in Rosario for eight municipales, two-thirds of the whole corporation. The present Municipality scarcely ever meets. Recriminations are the order of the day. The Capital of this morning has severe articles on the Corporation in its columns—two of them in reference to the post of municipal being held by an individual who is also a Justice of the Peace; the other articles are attacks.

The best part of the Municipality is their Commission of Immigration. Although it has no funds, and cannot get any from the Governments, it does its best to receive the immigrants that are brought up gratis by Mr. Arteaga's steamers. Within the last two months about three hundred have arrived, mostly Italians. An influential farmer from the Swiss Canton of Unterwalden has just arrived, bringing us letters from our agent in Lausanne, Mr. Beck. M. Bucher has come to see if he can make arrangements with the Government of the Province for lands on which to settle a hundred families from his Canton, which as yet has not given a single immigrant to the Argentine Republic.

A letter to a paper now-a-days must contain something in the shape of political news. Mr. Cabal has delivered his message on the opening of the Provincial Chambers. It is well written, and is from the pen of his Minister, Dr. Irioudo, who is a very able man, but belongs to the retrograde party of Santa Fé. The message, of course, is a general accusation of the preceding administration.

It is generally said here that General Urquiza has sent instructions to the electors here to vote for Mr. Elizalde. If that is the case, he will, of course, have done the same in all the Provinces of the Republic in which he has a majority; and after all I will have been strictly correct—Sarmiento will have a majority, counting his triumphs on the primary elections, and Elizalde will have the majority when the votes shall be counted in Congress. It is rather hard to understand this, but if Urquiza is not a candidate such will be the result, in my opinion. It is a great pity that there should be such embittered feelings against the candidate for the Presidency.

The defeated party will not be a vanquished political adversary, but a vanquished enemy. We have no tolerance here in politics. The greatest injuries may be pardoned, but political adversaries are satisfied with nothing but each other's hearts blood. Lord Brougham's words are continually verified in this country—"When the predominance of one party in a Democracy has been once established there is no safety for those who differ from it by ever so slight a shade."

Let us hope with the Republica and Tribuna that there is enough good sense in the country to put up quietly with whatever man turns out to be elected.

COLISEUM.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

The second Philharmonic concert of the season took place on Thursday evening, and was very brilliantly attended. Both the audience and the performers were at first chilled by the inclement weather. The winter of 1868 seemed to have chosen the same night for its debut. It peevishly froze the patriotism ready to bud forth at the conclusion of Mr. Reinken's masterly symphony, introducing the Argentine national hymn, which opened the concert. This work we have on a previous occasion reviewed; but on Thursday it had the advantage of a more complete orchestra; and we are indebted to Mr. Reinken for the novelty in Buenos Ayres of a full band, including the cor-anglais. This instrument told well in the dominant melody of the symphony, and was indispensable in the chorus from the "Africaine," with which the second part of the concert commenced. The chorus we refer to will be more appreciated on some other opportunity, when better practised. As it was given, we do not think the lamented composer could have recognised it.

We regret that our space is to-day too limited to allow us to do full justice to the talents of the ladies who took part in the solos and concerted music of the program, vocal and instrumental. Madame Farnesi sang admirably, notwithstanding her evident suffering from a serious cold. The peculiar timbre of her wonderfully cultivated voice had a truly delicious effect in the duet from "Loulsa Miller," with the baritone, Sr. Ascasubi. The Philharmonic now rejoices in the acquisition of Madame Farnesi and of Madame Hudtwalcker, who made her debut on the present occasion. The latter lady, a new arrival, was at once acknowledged by the assembly as an amateur vocalist difficult to surpass. Her voice inclines to the mezzo-soprano, and is of precisely the opposite timbre to that of Madame Farnesi. Instead of being reedy, penetrating, and metallic, the voice of Madame Hudtwalcker is veiled and soft, and very expressive when strictly confined to its true register. We believe these two ladies, at the next concert, will sing together in a duet. The combination of voices could not be more happy.

One of the most applauded and artistic performances in the concert was the pianoforte solo by Miss Tomasa Carvalho. Her rendering of Kontski's "Reveil du Lion," light as the piece was, indicated talents of an order far above the average of drawing-room playing. In the tenderest manner we would suggest to this clever young lady to eschew the pedals. Her admirable playing was disfigured by the confusion of the harmony, owing to the abuse of the loud pedal.

Miss Teresa Ortega, who possesses a fine contralto voice, delighted the audience with an Italian version of D. Godfrey's "Guards' Waltz." It was excellently well sung, but we prefer to hear the music given by the cornet, in its native element—a quadrille band.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday we had no mails from Montevideo, and but for the wires we should be all in the dark as to how things are down there. Maximo Perez is still advancing, and, as the bulk of the Government troops are in the rear of Perez, it is a race between the two armies as to which shall get in first. It is confidently stated that if Perez gets in the specie payment question will be settled in five minutes.

The freshest political news is that President Mitre will, on the inauguration of Congress, plainly and honestly announce that within fifteen days there will be either a decisive battle fought or propositions for peace made. We are well pleased to hear this. President Mitre should imitate the example of the great Sir Robert Peel, and never go contrary to the public opinion of the day. All parties agree that this war has lasted too long. The women are now being dragged from their homes to fight the allies. Such a campaign cannot be endured in the present age. It is hostile to the feelings of the nation; there is nothing to be gained save odium and disgrace by any further continuance of the struggle. The allies should attack and take Humaita, and then make peace.

The Kepler leaves to-day. She takes mails for Rio and England. The bulk of her home cargo is already engaged in Rio. Brazilian cotton has gone up so in price that our friends in Pernambuco and Rio have within the last six months made large fortunes.

The rain, which we so much required, has gone to the B. Oriental. Yesterday, we had a fine, frosty pampero, and all signs of rain gone. The farmers are beginning to dread a drought, as the season is so far advanced, and the frosts now will be setting in.

Our Rosario correspondent states that General Urquiza has written to the Santa Fé electors to vote for Dr. Elizalde. This fully bears out the statement of our Montevidean correspondent; and, in fact, down there people are still of opinion that Dr. Elizalde will be the President.

Yesterday there was the most painful anxiety felt for General Rivas and the Allied division under his command, it being currently rumored that the National Government had received some important despatches, with full details of the last battle. We could find out nothing authentic. That another bloody battle has been fought, it seems, an admitted fact; but that a disaster so stupendous as that mooted yesterday, even if the Paraguayan women did rush to the charge, it is impossible to credit, without the most reliable data. The whole history of the Rivas expedition, however, has been but one chapter of accidents. When he embarked with his men on board the steamer the vessel was run into, and all hands had a very narrow escape; then when the men were landed supplies ran short, and they were for a while without food. Again, when the march through the woods was begun, the Paraguayans fell on the Foreign Legion, and levigated the whole regiment, such continued misfortunes were regarded as ominous for the expedition.

In Montevideo the news is that the river Paraguay has fallen so much that the iron-clads are aground, and some of them exposed to the enemy's fire. Here nothing is known of this but the news is published in the Montevidean papers.

Hennessy, the most famed brandy manufacturer on the globe, has just opened an agency in this city, Messrs. Medlicott and Co. are the agents, and are now discharging a heavy consignment of this renowned brandy which they receive direct from Cognac. Connoisseurs and tasters should call at the new agency to try this soul-inspiring liquor.

In a letter from Entre Rios, we read that two other departments of the B. Oriental have risen and declared in favor of Perez. One of the new leaders is a man named McDougal Carabajal. We believe the fellow figured in history.

As will be seen by the telegram we publish in another column, Gottschalk's grand concert for the British Hospital is unavoidably put off. It is now fixed for Tuesday the 19th. inst. The demand for the tickets has been such that Mackern has been obliged to take down his new glass doors to admit the public. Phillips makes up a stump and touches up everything, concluding with his great hit—"Champagne Charley in Buenos Ayres."

The National Chamber of Deputies held yesterday its first preparatory sitting. The new members for Buenos Ayres, San Luis, Santiago, Entre Rios, and Jujuy took their oaths, their respective returns having been duly approved. Dr. Acosta was then named President of the Chamber, and Messrs. Villanueva and Obligado Vice-Presidents. To-morrow the Chamber will take into consideration the diplomas of the new members for Corrientes and San Juan. No resolution has yet been taken with regard to the day of the opening of Congress.

Our advices from the interior are of the same gloomy character. Taboada is marching on Rioja to turn out the rebels who hold the town. The Governor outside is recruiting all the men, and the Governor inside making a clean sweep of everything in the unfortunate city.

It now turns out that the old drag lying at the Boca is not worth repairing; the bottom of the machine is completely gone, having been left so long lying on the bank it has rotten away, and it will cost more to repair the drag than to buy a new one in England.

The new map of the city is at last finished; it is the most elaborate yet made, and we commend it to our readers. It is published by the Topographical Department, and has all the house property in town clearly and plainly specified.

On an estancia near San Antonio de Areco an enterprising foreign estanciero is at present making the extract of meat, on the Liebig process. We hope he will succeed. He assures us that only an ounce and a half of "extractum" can be obtained from a sheep; and that, except when the skin is valuable, mutton "extractum" does not pay.

The first ball at the Progreso comes off on the 23rd inst. The preparations for the May festivals, in the Plaza, are now progressing, and the new balloon almost finished.

In a late number of La Paz, a paper published in Santa Fé, we read a long editorial against the Civil Marriage Law, followed by the draft of a bill shortly to be laid before the Legislative Chambers of the Province, revoking said law, and enacting that marriages already peformed in conformity with its provisions shall continue to produce all their civil effects, as well as those which, in spite of said law, may have been contracted in facie ecclesiæ.

With reference to complaints we have heard of the great scarcity of superior wheat for seed, we beg to announce to our subscribers that we have in our office a sample of the best quality of wheat, sent to us by D. Juan Miranda, a broker of old established reputation, who has at his office in the Plaza 11 de Setiembre a large assortment of various kinds of wheat for seed, the best of which he sells at $270 fanega. The sample we hold unites all the requisites sought by intelligent parties, being very clean, sound, and free from all extraneous seed.

The latest quotation of prices of capones taken from yesterday's report of one of the most repectable houses of consignment in this market is the following:—Fat wethers and sheep, from $24 to $28; sheep al corte, $10 to $15.

Our talented friend, D. José Manuel Estrada, has advertised that he is about to open a course of lectures on Argentine history. The inaugural conference will take place at eight o'clock this evening at 151 Calle Reconquista. Entrance free, and seats will be provided for ladies.

STOP PRESS!!!

Owing to the stiff pampero yesterday blowing, the waves in the harbour of Montevideo mountains high, no steamer left that port last night for Buenos Ayres, and, as Mr. Gottschalk could not come up by telegraph, the British Hospital concert anounced for to-night at the Coliseum has been postponed until next Tuesday, same hour and place.

We received the following telegram from the distinguished pianist at a late hour:—

GOTTSCHALK TO "STANDARD."

Montevideo, May 15,
Six, p.m.

Pampero. No steamer. Please have posters out announcing involuntary detention. Fix a day next week, and telegraph me.

TERRIBLE OUTRAGE AT LOBOS.

DILIGENCE MAN ATTACKED.

I wrote you a few hurried lines on my arrival in Lobos to inform you of young Paz's accident. I now write again on our safe arrival home to give you the particulars of an accident, which, if you should get the news from the Standard, or any other channel, might alarm you very much, for our lives have been most Providentially preserved. To begin; on our arrival in Lobos, Savalla, the most respectable coach agent, called on Mr. Stockdale and asked him to be allowed to bring us home in his omnibus carriage the following day. All was arranged for 10 o'clock. Just before starting, he asked Stockdale if he would have any objection to his taking a young man on the roof of the carriage, who was going to some employment on Costa's estancia; he was bringing him out free of expense—so, of course, Stockdale made no objection. A number of friends were round the hotel door to see us off. Stockdale, as usual, proposed going outside with Savalla, but I begged him to come in; so he got in, and very thankful he was he did so. We started, and all went on well, until within six squares of our own house. I was seated at the top end of the carriage, and M. opposite to me, Stockdale at the bottom next the door. From where I sat I could see Savalla's legs and half his body. In an instant I heard an exclamation of pain, and repeated cries for help. Savalla stood on the 'pescante,' he held the reins in his right hand—although the horses were going as they pleased—and with his left hand he seemed to be struggling with the man on the roof. I, of course, thought he must be in a fit, and Savalla holding him to keep him from falling off. I told Stockdale I thought the man must have 'mal de corazon,' and to get out carefully and try and help Savalla. From the moment the scuffle took place he had been trying to get the door open; but it had a spring to keep the latch down, which he was not aware of, and he could not get it open—and while trying, the villain above dropped down like a cat, and took to his heels, leaving his hat behind him. But what was our horror to see poor Savalla at the same time come down bathed in his blood from wounds received on his head! Stockdale only heard him say, 'Me ha muerto el picaro,' when, revolver in hand, Stockdale chased the villain. I called out to him 'Should he turn on you, shoot him dead!' The rogue made direct for our house, and Stockdale ran with all his speed, fearing he might attack John or Mrs. Evans the moment he arrived; but the fellow ran like a deer, and Stockdale was losing ground, so he took his handkerchief and began to wave it, hoping that John or Evans might see him; in a moment John left the house at full speed, and when he got up, Stockdale called out, 'Turn back, John, and stop that villain; take care what he has in his hands, and catch him—he has nearly killed Savalla!' John flew, and, with the assistance of Evans, caught him and held him tight. In the meantime I was left in the camp with the poor man, who was bleeding profusely from three wounds in his head, which he had received from the hammer-head of a whip. Fortunately the hammer flew off at the third blow: so he then struck three terrible blows across the shoulders. I dared not leave the reins, as two of the horses were rather lively—so I directed M. how to act in trying to stop the blood a little, so that we might get home and give the poor man some assistance, as he was getting very faint. He said he would mount the box again and start the horses, if I would hold the reins, as he did not think he would be able; in that way we got home, and just overtook Stockdale at the tranquera. John and E. had the scoundrel safe under the corredor, and John asked Evans if he would hold him while he went to assist Stockdale to get the children out of the coach, for they were nearly dead with fright. The villain no sooner found himself alone with E., than he wrench his hands from him and escaped. He flew like lightning; but it was no use, E. was after him, followed by Stockdale and John, and had just tumbled him when Stockdale got up to him, and put his foot on his chest, and the revolver to his head, and told him if he moved he would blow his brains out. John and E, then got a piece of hide rope, and tied his arms together behind him, and sent for the teniente, who tied him hand and foot, placed him once more on the top of the coach, put the wounded Savalla, after Evans had dressed his wounds into the coach, and drove the horses. He took the rogue to prison, where he is in the calabozo. He is a youth of about 20, a Gallego, with a very mild countenance. What his object was in trying to take Savalla's life, no one can tell. They were strangers. We all thought him out of his mind; but Dr. Pineiro will not hear of it—he is 'muy picaro.'

THE PARAGUAYAN WAR.

The declaration of Lord Stanley in the House of Commons that "any offer of mediation between Brazil and Paraguay at the present time would be unlikely to be accepted" receives but too full confirmation from all public and private intelligence. There seems to be no possible end to the war in the Plate. Had the President of Paraguay Lopez a "Sacred Bard" in his pay, his defence of the position at Humaitá would go down to posterity among the most memorable achievements of human endurance. It was early in the month of September of last year that Her Majesty's diplomatic agent, Mr. Gould, on his return from the Paraguayan camp, described the forces under Lopez as about 20,000 men, of whom 10,000 or 12,000 at the utmost were good troops, while the rest were mere boys from 12 to 14 years of age, old men and cripples, sick and wounded. The account of the extremities to which these men were reduced could not be more heart-rending. "Worn out with exposure, fatigue, and privations; dropping down from inanition; ill supplied with drugs and medicines; mown down by cholera and small-pox; without horses; with the cattle dying very fast from want of pasturage; many of the soldiers in a state bordering on mutiny," the whole scene bears the aspect rather of a plague-stricken lazaret than of a camp. Against this mere handful of ghosts and skeletons of warriors the land and sea forces of three great States Brazil, Uraguay, and the Argentine Republic—have been arrayed, not only during the last six months, but for a considerable period before. According to the latest accounts, which reach to the 23d of February, the Brazilian Commander-in-Chief, Marshal Marquis de Caxias, and the Naval Commander, Vice-Admiral Ignacio, had made up, their minds for a final attack, the brunt of which was to be borne by 16,000 picked troops by land, and by nine Ironclads on the water side. Humaitá, the key to the position of the Paraguayars, lies close upon the left bank of the Paraguay River, facing a very sharp bend of the stream, which it encompasses on three sides. On the land side the fortress is flanked by those 'esteros', or salt water swamps, which render the ground almost impassable for many miles round, and in the midst of which the army of Lopez is encamped. The way to Asuncion, the capital of Paraguay, is effectually barred by this position. In order to turn it the Brazilians and their allies must either march across El Gran Chaco, or the Great Will Chase—an immense wilderness on the right bank of the river, or round by the Itapua on the other side, and all across the Paraguay territory. It had been stated some time ago that a Brazilian detachment under the General Osorio had been sent by the latter route, with a view either to reach Asuncion or at least to operate a diversion in the rear of Lopez's camp. This flank movement, however, miscarried, owing to the slowness of Osorio's march Time was given to Lopez to throw up fortifications, which effectually barred the road to Asuncion; and it was this failure, as it seems, which determined Caxias to make a front attack upon Humaitá. Of this intended assault, however, nothing has hitherto been heard, except the gigantic preparations by which it was hoped that success might be insured. Measures, we are told, were taken to render the vessels altogether invulnerable on the side they were to present to the batteries of the fortress. The vessels were, moreover, supplied with newly-contrived apparatus, by which they could be guaranteed from the torpedoes which Lopez was known to have laid everywhere under water. The Ironclads were to burst the chains thrown athwart the stream, and the efforts of the squadron were to be seconded by an attack of the land forces, among whom the utmost activity had for some time been displayed. Experiments with balloons had been made to reconnoitre the position of the Paraguayans, and a map of Lopez's camp was drawn by the aid of the aeronaut's observations. All was ready for the onslaught; yet, by the latest accounts, it has been put off, and, possibly, the very idea of it has been abandoned.

The truth seems to be that a stronger position was never intrusted to more resolute defenders. Mr. Gould himself, who drew so gloomy a picture of the condition of Lopez's soldiers, does full justice to their courage. "The Paraguayans,", he says, "are a fine, brave, hardy, patient, and obedient race of men." True to the wild Indian blood flowing in their veins, they neither give nor accept quarter. Some of them "lying almost in the agonies of death will stab any enemy within their reach; others, although offering no resistance, still refuse to surrender, and have to be run through where they lie." It is, however, to something besides this desperate valour of the Paraguayaus that we must ascribe the prolongation of a struggle the out break of which dates from the early months of 1865. Against the determined will of one man and the devotion of one people the Allies have nothing to oppose besides the proverbial weakness of a bundle of loose sticks. The Argentine Republic and the Uruguayans are charged by the Brazilians with remissness and lukewarmness in the cause. In the two Southern Republics, moreover, rebellions and conspiracy are every-day occurrences. General Mitre, the Argentine President, has been hastily summoned from the camp to guard against disturbances at Buenos Ayres. Riot and civil strife have once more done their work at Montevideo. In Brazil itself there is "great discontent, at the disgraceful protraction of the war, at the profligate expenditure, at the blunders of the allied leaders;" Marshal Caxias demands the removal of the War Minister; the latter finds in the support of his colleagues and of the Council of State the means of counteracting the influence of the Commander-in-Chief; and while the energies and resources of the vast empire are paralyzed by dissensions among its rulers, men of all parties show an equal determination to carry on the war "to the bitter end," for all are convinced, from a knowledge of the character of Lopez, that with him there can be no secure or permanent peace.

Were it not for the British subjects detained in the Paraguayan camp, the sight of Lopez standing at bay for so long a time and against such enormous odds would be apt to enlist British sympathies. With respect to those British subjects we have already expressed our confident hope that their case may receive due attention at the Foreign Office. But the position of Lopez at Humaita is absolutely identical with that of a commander shut up in a beleaguered citadel. The gates of the stronghold can be opened to no one of the besieged without great risk of compromising the safety of the place by the revelation of its vulnerable points. The fact that some of these British subjects are detained against their will, and that the contracts which bound some of them to Lopez have expired, should be diligently inquired into. With respect to the surgeons constituting Lopez's medical staff, we are persuaded their sense of honour would forbid their deserting their post at such a moment, even if no check were put upon their movements. We have Mr Gould's assurance that all our countrymen are kindly and considerately dealt with by the President that their salaries are punctually paid, and their condition is in every respect as good as circumstances will allow. The depreciation of the currency, and the rise in the price of the necessaries of life, expose them, indeed, to hardships which they had not expected, and some of them have either lost their lives in action, or have fallen victims to the pestilential scourges with which the camp is afflicted A distinction should be drawn, however between sufferings inseparable from the fortunes of war and those inflicted by the deliberate act of man. The position of General Lopez is one of extreme difficulty, and more could, no doubt, be obtained by endeavouring to extricate him from it then by contributing to aggravate it. Inveterate as the contending parties seem to be in their enmity, they ought to be made to hear the voice of friendly mediators. The Brazilians are greatly influenced by English opinion. It is upon Rio Janeiro especially that the pressure of diplomatic persuasion should be exercised. Anxious for the attainment of the object nearest to his heart—the emancipation of the slaves—the Emperor Pedro II. is said to be longing for peace, while from a mere sense of duty he strains every nerve in the furtherance of the war. It is upon this good disposition of the Sovereign of Brazil that the agents of the British Government should build their hopes of eventually bringing to a close a contest which has retarded the progress of the South American communities engaged by more than half a century. To ask Lopez to be reconciled to his enemies would be a mere work of supererogation. Paraguay is fighting for existence. It asks for nothing better than to be let alone. It would be in vain to ask it to surrender to enemies who would show no mercy. Paraguay will perish sword in hand, and on its downfall, we apprehend, there will be little hope for the British subjects who were in an evil hour involved in its destinies. —Times, March 30.

MEETING AL LUJAN.

A preliminary meeting of the parishioners of Lujan was held a few days ago at Dn. Jose Cruz Lein's for the purpose of organizing to raise a subscription in order to present the Rev. Mr. Carolan with some slight token of esteem on his retirement from this important parish.

The feeling of regret at his leaving is so unanimous that the utmost cordiality existed on the occasion, it being quite evident that this respected clergyman during a residence of eight years in this Partido, has succeeded in gaining the universal affection of all classes, which they are now determined to exhibit in some practical shape.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon in eloquent terms expressed the deep regret he felt (in common with all the parishioners) in announcing the departure of this popular priest, and passed a very high eulogy on his rare merits, not only as a fellow student in college, but likewise as a fellow labourer on the same mission. Mr. Browne, Mr. Allen and others also made some remarks in praise of the Rev. gentleman, and the subscription which was opened promises to reach a handsome sum, which will enable his friends to presesnt him with some parting memento of their love and regard.

Another meeting will be held on Sunday next at the same place and hour, in order to adopt a final arrangement.

ON 'CHANGE.

May 15, 1868.

Ounces,	400
Sovereigns,	122½
Patacons,	25
National Bonds	44¼

Bonds for cash rule firm, and in fact no sellers at current rates. On time there were a few transactions for the end of June at 45¼, but the whole business of the day in Bonds was but a mere bagatelle. Money to-day was not to say so tight, owing to the Provincial Bank and some of the private Banks discounting; but the Provincial Bank Directors are beginning to be most discriminating, and some well-known signature have been rejected.

There was nothing from Montevideo save telegrams—no mails: and owing to the heavy gale down there all day, no steamer leaves that port this evening. But the prevailing opinion is that the rebel forces are hourly increasing, and Perez' army at present musters over 2,000 men. On the Bolsa it is openly stated that, if the revolution triumphs, the Forced Currency Bill will be extended.

Argentine politics are much discussed on 'Change, and it was asserted, by some parties, usually well-informed on State matters, that President Mitre will, in opening Congress, promise the country an immediate termination of the campaign, if not by arms by peace negotiations. The Governor's speech has caused much concern; but it is hoped that, if the Paraguayan war be brought to a termination, things will go on smoothly, as no other cause for discontent or alarm exists.

THE ACME OF MEDICAL SCIENCE IS ACHIEVED IN THE WONDERFUL DISCOVERY OF NEW MEDICAL PRINCIPLES IN

DR. RADWAY'S PERFECT PURGATIVE PILLS COATED WITH SWEET GUM.

1st Principle—A vegetable substitute for Calomel or Mercury is secured.

2d. A cathartic that cleanses the alimentary Canal and its neighboring Viscera as thoroughly as Lobelia does the stomach.

3d. Functional Harmony is secured to the secreting vessels of all the organs and glands in the system.

4th. Purification and equalization of the circulation of the blood.

5th. The properties of these Pills communicate a nutritious principle to the blood and reparative secretion.s

6th. A great want is supplied in their soothing, healing and expulsive power in cases of intestinal ulceration, as in Eruptive Fevers, where a cure depends upon free evacuations.

7th. The aged and persons suffering from paralysis of the bowels, by the use of one pill per day, secures regularity.

Persons suffering with any disturbance of the secretary organs, or that have difficulty in discharging the contents of the bowels, or that are in the habi of taking Pills or opening medicines, should try one box of these truly excellent Pills. The happiness of their effects on the system, and the satisfactory evidence one box will give you of their wonderful curative powers, will convince you that your faith and trust in them will become firmly established.

RADWAY'S REGULATING PILLS.

A newly discovered principle in vegetable medication is securred in Radway's Regulating Pill, that places them far in advance of all other Purgative or Cathartic, Aparient or Sedative, and Anti-Bilious Medicine. They are the only vegetable substitute for Calomel or mercury known; the only Medicine that, during their process of purging, imparts nutriment to the debilitated system, and strengh, vigor and purity to the blood, and impaired secretions; the only purgative that will cleanse the Alimentary Canal and obstructed intestine as quickly and thoroughly, without weakening or neauseating the patient, as Lobelia (the most active and thorough emetic of the herbist) will the stomach, and the only purgative at present known safe to administer in case of Small Pox, Yellow Fever, Erysipelas, and other Malignant Fevers, that inflame and ulcerate the mucuous membranes of the Bowels, Stomach, &c.

THE PROPERTIES OF DR. RADWAY'S PILLS.

They equalize the circulation, Purify the Blood, and Purge Corrupt and Acrimonious Humors, and retained deposits from the system in six hours.

AS A CATHARTIC, the increase, when suspended, the peroitaltic movement of the bowels, and promote a quick evacuation of its contents. Their influence is extended throughout the system, purging the retained deposits in the stomach, into the duodenum, stimulating the secretory, ducts of the pancreas and liver, in the promotion and increase of the flow of bile and pancreatic fluids.

PURGATIVES of common aloes exert their action on the colon and rectum by irritation of the mucuos membrane, without influencing the liver or its secretions. Such cathartics are unsafe in pills for general use. The common Cathartic Pills, that induce drastic liquid discharges, should never be given in cases of inflammation, or when there is ulceration of the intestinal canal.

THE APERIENT and mild LAXITIVE properties of RADWAY'S PILLS are the best safeguard in these disorders, and in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers their balsamic, healing and sothing properties protect the coats of the alimentary passage against the irritant and acrid humors of the fauces.

THE NUTRITIOUS AND TONIC properties of these Pills are of great service in depleting fevers and uterine discharges, likewise as a dinner pill, to increase the appetite and promote digestion.

THEIR SEDATIVE properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach and bowels, either from inflamation, colic, flatulence, wind, cramps, &c.

THEIR COUNTER IRRITANT influence extends throughout the system where there is inflamation, congestion or irritation, stimulating the blood and nervous fluids in the congested vessels, and equalizing its circulation. The principle of Counter irritations is generally applied to external remedies. Its application, internally, in the form of a purgative medicine, exemplified in Radway's Pills, has proved a wonderful curative principle, readily withdrawing from the blood and fluids their acrid and irritating humors.

AS DIAPHORETICS OR SUDORIFICS they stimulate the secretions of the skin, induce exhalation of obstructed porspiration.

THEIR DIURETIC properties act on the kidneys, correcting and regulating the flow of urine.

THEIR ANTI-BILIOUS properties stimulate the liver in the secretion of bile, and its discharge thorogh the biliary ducts. In all cases of Headache, Jaundice, Bilious Attacks, Saffrom-colored Skinq, Impaired Digestion, caused by the overflow of bile and its mixing with the blood, thete pills, in doses four to six, will quickly regulate the action of the liver and free the patiedt from these difficulties. Ona or two of Radway's Pills taken daily, by those subject to bilious pains and torpidity of the liver, will keep the system regular and insure healthy digestion.

In case where there is severe inflamation, paralysis of the bewels, and a speedy discharge of their contents required, grind six of the pills to a powder and take in some preserves or water. In half an hour the pills, given in this way, will generally operate. The dose can be repeated, if necessary, in two hours. We have known the pills, given in this form, to open the bowels ween Croton Oil. Elaterium, Podophyllum 'Mendrake' have failed. It is seldon that a second dose will be required in these cases of Intestinal Obstructions.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

101--Cangallo--103.

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P.P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p.%) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishe can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

P. P. Mauá & Co.

IMPERIAL PETROLEUM,

IN PATENT TIN CANS.

BRILLIANCY, ECONOMY, SAFETY!

The Undersigned beg to inform the Public that they have received direct from the Proprietors, Messrs. LANMAN & KEMP, NEW YORK, a shipment of the above Celebrated Petroleum Oil, which has established for itself a reputation for excellence surpassing all other Petroleums. The following are some of the qualities possessed by it:—

1st. By a great improvement in Refining, it is freed from the Gaseous Naptha, and will, therefore, stand a higher degree of heat than other Petroleums before Igniting, thus making it much safer; in fact, almost

NON-EXPLOSIVE!

2nd. It is pure white in colour, has scarcely any smell, and is clean and pleasant to handle.

3rd. It has a much greater density or heaviness of body than ordinary Petroleum—a large part of which latter passes off in Gas,—the Imperial Petroleum being Pure Oil will, therefore, with rare exception,

BURN 25 PER CENT. LONGER!

than other Petroleums

4th. The flame from the Imperial Petroleum is a pure white, while nearly all other Petroleums give a yellow opaque flame. On this account, two Lamps burning the Imperial Petroleum will give as much Light as THREE Lamps burning ordinary Petroleum.

5th. It burns clear and steady without flickering, which is a great relief and saving to the eyesight.

6th. It does not Crust in the Wick, and, therefore, requires Trimming but seldom.

7th. The Imperial Petroleum is shipped in Patent Tin Cans, not liable to leak, thus avoiding the loss so often entailed upon the buyer, and being from one vein of Oil, it is always uniform in colour and qualities.

We respectfully ask the attention of Families, Storekeepers, and those who have in charge the Lighting of Schools, Churches, Public Halls, and Street Lamps to this very superior Oil, which, from its SAFETY, ECONOMY, and BRILLIANCY, they will find admirably suited for their various purposes.
